

AGAINST THE STATE AND THE ADMINISTRATIONS, FREE TRANSPORT FOR EVERYONE

For all of us, public transport is a basic social need, which cannot be priced based on the intentions of the state and the bosses, according to profitability. In the world of aggressive class exploitation and repression, through the imposition of the electronic ticket automations, we are daily facing a 'sterile' field of commercialization and economic depletion, monitoring and surveillance, control and discipline, exclusion and repression.

*

We, the students, are experiencing the restructuring of public transport, as another attempt to burden us with the cost of education, along with the costs of housing, nourishment and transportation. The restructuring in public transport is part of the restructuring taking place in the universities and the workplaces, led by the privatization and the further degradation of our basic needs.

*

The state along with the administration of public transport are trying to convince us that our enemies are those who do not pay a ticket. They are attempting to turn us against the passengers, one worker against the other, in order to prevent us from fighting together. However, we know that our real enemies are the directors, the administration and the ministries. It is they who are responsible for the reduction of our salaries and the intensification of our work. It is they who are trying to terrorize us in order to impose to us precarious, ill-paid work without any rights.

*

The effort from above to disorient social rage is expressed in the most emphatic way by promoting the exclusion and racist treatment against the most marginalized and the weakest of us, the refugees and the immigrants. Against the racism that is attempted to be defused in our society, we call our fellow workers and the passengers to break free from fear and resist social cannibalism and fascistization. Along with the refugees and the immigrants, we should stand against those who are truly responsible for the destruction of our lives.

We are struggling for public transport, which is designed to meet the needs of the workers and the unemployed, locals and immigrants. Against the operation of public transport by the logic of profit and loss. Against the generalized attack of the state and the capital, we are creating and connecting fronts of struggle, in order to intensify our resistance from below in all aspects of every-day life, the working places, the neighborhoods, the schools and universities.

We are still fighting against control, exclusion, discrimination and social cannibalism, against the restructuring and the further commercialization of public transport. We should overcome fear, inertia, individualization, subordination and strengthen any expression of social disobedience. We should resist collectively against any restriction of our freedom of movement.
